Chakra

15+ EDIT

Chakra (チャクラ, Chakura) is a supernatural substance[1][2] native to lifeforms on some planets, described to be the the energy that flows through the body (体内を流れるエネルギーである, tainai o nagareru enerugīdearu).[3] It is said to exist in all things and connect everyone's consciousness from their inception.[4] Due to it being the component to create Chakra Fruit, the Ōtsutsuki Clan travel from planet to planet to absorb all the chakra on them in order to create the fruit to consume. To release chakra means to bring out physical and spiritual energy and mix it together within one's body.[5]

Origin

Hagoromo connecting with others through ninshū.

According to Madara, whose knowledge comes Hagoromo's Stone Tablet,[6] which was adulterated by Black Zetsu,[7] humans on Earth didn't have chakra until Hamura and Hagoromo Ōtsutsuki were born with it,[8] which was a result of their mother Kaguya eating their planet's chakra fruit from the God Tree. Hagoromo spread chakra to others through a practice called ninshū, intending to create peace by using the chakra to connect people's spiritual energy so that they would understand one another without even talking. However, the people did not use chakra in the way Hagoromo hoped, instead using it to connect their inner spiritual and physical energies. They kneaded their inner chakra to amplify and weaponise it, creating what is now known as ninjutsu.[9]

According to Jura, a God Tree who gained self-awareness, their purpose is collect the chakra of all living things, all current and past life on a planet, and create a chakra fruit.[10] Likewise, it is said that the God Tree drains chakra from all life-forms on the planet to form a chakra fruit,[11] suggesting that some form of chakra predates Kaguya's eating of the chakra fruit, on Earth and other worlds consumed by the Ōtsutsuki.

Overview

Chakra is essential to even the most basic jutsu, and allows for superhuman movement.[12] Through various methods, the most common of which is hand seals, chakra can be controlled and manipulated to create an effect that would not be possible otherwise, such as walking on water, exhaling fire, or creating illusions. Chakra is ordinarily not visible to the unaided eye unless it is highly concentrated or manifested in large amounts. This is rarely seen due to the restrictions of eight specific tenketsu known as the Eight Gates, which limit the amount of chakra an individual can release at a single given time.

Since being spread by Hagoromo, better known as the Sage of Six Paths, chakra has become a form of life energy that all individuals produce to some degree; those who expend all their chakra will die.[13][14] Produced within and manipulated by organs such as the heart,[15] the energy circulates throughout the body in a network called the "Chakra Pathway System", which is similar to the cardiovascular system. Groups such as shinobi have learned to generate more chakra and release it outside their bodies through pressure points called tenketsu in order to perform jutsu. Ordinary civilians do not possess chakra in sufficient amounts to use ninjutsu, allowing those with Dōjutsu to tell them apart from ninja at a glance.[16]

The Chakra Pathway System.

The two components of chakra: physical energy and spiritual energy.

Chakra is created when two more primal energies, known collectively as one's "stamina" (スタミナ, sutamina), are moulded together. Physical energy (身体エネルギー, shintai enerugī) is collected from each of the individual cells that make up a person's body. Spiritual energy (精神エネルギー, seishin enerugī, English TV: Mental Energy) is derived from the mind's consciousness and can be increased through studying, meditation, training and experience.[17] These two energies becoming more powerful will in turn make the created chakra more powerful. Therefore, practising a technique repeatedly will build up experience, increasing one's spiritual energy, and thus allowing more chakra to be created. As a result, the ninja is able to do that same technique with more power. This same cycle applies for physical energy, except the ninja needs to increase their endurance instead. Some unique individuals have substantial potential that enables them to exponentially increase their chakra reserves in a relatively short amount of time.

At any given time, a ninja will have a "maximum" amount of chakra that they can form and use before it runs out and they need to rest to replenish it. With practice this maximum can be increased, but to a certain extent as they are limited to the quantity and strength of chakra that their genetics grants them.[18] For instance, Kakashi Hatake has average chakra reserves, but no amount of training can grant him the same amount of chakra as Naruto Uzumaki whom he stated had more chakra than himself.[19] If a body is given far more chakra than it is able to handle, then the body would potentially be killed by the overwhelming chakra, as Fūka had to divide the chakra she absorbed into different bodies, a Kumo-nin who ate Gyūki's chakra meat tentacle died instead of acquiring part of its power, and the reason why Isshiki Ōtsutsuki chose not to resurrect in Jigen's body due to it being unable to handle his massive chakra. On the opposite spectrum, if somebody runs out of chakra, they potentially risk death.[20] When Naruto was suffering from an inability to use chakra, his amount of chakra was observed to have dropped over time by the Byakugan, though it was initially assumed to be due to poor health or overwork.[21]

Each person's chakra is different and as such gives off a unique chakra signature, which sensor type ninja are able to detect. Chakra signatures are passed genetically, allowing a person's clan to be identified by their chakra;[22] over time, entire populations can have perceptibly different chakra.[23] One's chakra signature can be altered by absorbing DNA from multiple people, mixing various chakra signatures together to become a whole new one.[24] In the anime, chakra signatures that are similar to each other (such as those of siblings, or a parent and child) are suggested to resonate when near each other.[25] Each person's chakra also has a unique "colour" that can be seen by those with dōjutsu (the anime tends to colour all normal chakra light blue). Even if they are separated, changes made in the chakra signature of the original will result in the separated chakra mimicking those changes.[26]

While practically all types of jutsu require chakra to be performed, taijutsu does not; stamina is all that is needed. While the ninja still needs a set amount of chakra to live, regular taijutsu doesn't require any active moulding or manipulation of chakra, with few exceptions. A standard attack like a punch or kick falls into this technique category.

Chakra Control (チャクラコントロール , Chakura Kontorōru) involves a ninja being able to mould as much chakra as needed to perform any given jutsu or ability with maximum efficiency.[27] Because chakra takes time and a great deal of training to gradually build up, the key to using it is not actually having large amounts of chakra, but instead being able to sufficiently control and conserve it.[28] If they mould more chakra than is needed, the excess chakra is wasted and they will tire out faster from its loss.[29] If they don't mould enough chakra, a technique will not be performed effectively, if at all, likely creating problems in a combat situation.[30] Because chakra consists in part of spiritual energy, it's easier to mould the correct amount of chakra by remaining calm and focused.[31]

General training methods for improving one's moulding and manipulation of chakra are the Leaf Concentration, Tree Climbing, and Water Surface Walking exercises. A good way to build up chakra in the body is to spin it into a tight spiral; Whether to spin the chakra left or right is dependent on the way the user's hair grows.[32] Hand seals are often used to manipulate chakra more easily, allowing shinobi to execute their techniques faster and more effectively. Shinobi who are extremely skilled at chakra control often specialise in genjutsu or become medical-nin.

Fuyō sensing chakra.

Chakra can also be used for general performance enhancement. By moving moulded chakra into key points of the body - usually the hands or feet - one can augment their physical prowess. Shinobi are variously able rely on this skill to boost their speed, acquire a sixth sense, and even perform superhuman strikes. As shown in the anime, moulding one's chakra can also improve mental prowess, allowing them to process information more efficiently[33] or even sober up after drinking alcohol.

When creating a ninjutsu, the two methods of manipulating chakra are referred to as shape transformation and nature transformation:

- Shape transformation deals with controlling the form, movement, and potency of one's chakra, determining the size, range, and purpose of a technique.
- Nature transformation deals with the moulding and defining of the nature of one's chakra, altering its properties and characteristics for use in techniques. There is also the nature transformations of Yin and Yang, which deals with changing the ratio of spiritual and physical energies within chakra.

These two methods can be implemented separately or together in order to create a technique, though ninja who can use both simultaneously are said to be rare.

Senjutsu (仙術, English TV: Sage Jutsu, literally meaning: Sage Techniques) are a specialised field of jutsu that involve the use of natural energy. Senjutsu practitioners, known as sages, learn to draw natural energy inside their bodies, blending it with their own chakra to create senjutsu chakra (仙術チャクラ, senjutsu chakura, English TV: Sage Jutsu Chakra). This chakra adds a new dimension of power to the user's techniques, while also allowing for the use of techniques that would not otherwise be possible.

Absorption Chakra

Absorption Chakra (吸引チャクラ, Kyūin Chakura)[38] is produced by the Demonic Statue of the Outer Path, and can be released from its mouth in the form of phantom dragons. Any chakra that touches these dragons sticks to them,[39] which allows them to kill human beings in an instant. The Sealing Technique: Phantom Dragons Nine Consuming Seals utilises nine of these dragons to extract tailed beast chakra from a jinchūriki or directly seal the beast into the statue, though sealing such a large amount of chakra requires several days.

Six Paths

Six Paths (六道, Rikudō) is a term used frequently towards the end of the series with little explanation of what it actually is. Several characters are mentioned to have the chakra or power of Six Paths, but it's unclear to what extent these terms differ:

Hagoromo gifting Naruto and Sasuke.

- Six Paths Chakra (六道チャクラ, Rikudō Chakura) — used by Naruto Uzumaki and Madara Uchiha to float.[40]
- Six Paths Sage Chakra (六道の仙人チャクラ, Rikudō no Sennin Chakura) — applied by Naruto to his Truth-Seeking Balls, allowing him to damage Madara's shadows.[41]
- Sage of Six Paths Power (六道仙人の力, Rikudō Sennin no Chikara) — said to be the source of Sasuke Uchiha's Amenotejikara and Naruto's Truth-Seeking Balls.[42]
- Six Paths Power (六道の力, Rikudō no Chikara) — temporarily gained by Kakashi Hatake while his body is inhabited by the spirit of Obito Uchiha, enhancing the power of his eye technique.[43] Sasuke can also apply it to his Chidori, darkening its colour and also allowing it to damage Madara.[44]
- Six Paths Yin Power (六道の陰の力, Rikudō no In no Chikara) and Six Paths Yang Power (六道の陽の力, Rikudō no Yō no Chikara) — two special powers given to Naruto and Sasuke by Hagoromo Ōtsutsuki, which can be used to seal Madara[45] or even Kaguya Ōtsutsuki.[46]

Hamura's Chakra

Like Hagoromo's, Hamura Ōtsutsuki's chakra has special properties and is essentially the same as Six Paths Chakra, passed through the bloodlines of the Ōtsutsuki and Hyūga clans. Only those with Hamura's chakra can touch (and thus destroy) the Tenseigan and are immune to its effects. Interestingly, when using the chakra she received from Hamura, Hinata Hyūga's

Main article: Gift of the Hermit Group

The Gift of the Hermit Group (仙族の才, Senzoku no Sai, English TV: Gift of the Sages) is a special kind of chakra used by the ninja monks of Ninja Temples, such as the Fire Temple.[47] It requires daily, unrelenting training to master. This chakra is required to unseal the Sealed Iron Wall granting access to the Fire Temple. It is also required for the technique Welcoming Approach: Thousand-Armed Murder.

Seen in the anime, shinobi from Hoshigakure can manipulate their chakra into a wide variety of skills by using the chakra-enhancing meteorite, albeit at the cost of extreme damage to their bodies. Hoshigakure's method gets its name, Mysterious Peacock, from the chakra's raw manifestation as pinkish-purple chakra tails similar to a peacock's tail feathers.

Negative Chakra

Negative Chakra is used as nourishment for Nue to explode.[48] It is also used by Nue and Sumire to, when given to another person, take control of them and their negative emotions.

Dark Chakra

Main article: Zero-Tails

Seen in Naruto Shippūden the Movie: Bonds, Dark Chakra (闇のチャクラ, Yami no Chakura) is a special chakra formed from the negative emotions of the heart. Created by the Zero-Tails as it feeds on the negative emotions of the people around it, it is shown to be extremely powerful, being used to power the Land of the Sky's Ancor Vantian and grants Shinnō powerful techniques with seemingly no drawbacks. However, it requires proper chakra control to use, and disruption in the control can cause a damaging backlash, as Shinnō's body heavily deteriorated when his control was sabotaged.

Priestess Chakra

Main article: Bell (charm)

Seen in Naruto Shippūden the Movie, Priestess Chakra (巫女チャクラ, Miko Chakura) has a bright and unique aspect. Shion can use it to send pink rays of severing light at her opponents, create a light barrier to shield her from darkness, and transform into an angelic form. She also used the mystical chakra of

Main article: Ryūmyaku

Seen in Naruto Shippūden the Movie: The Lost Tower, the Ryūmyaku (龍脈, English TV: Ley Line, literally meaning: Dragon Veins) is an ancient source of chakra that flows under Rōran, granting anyone who harnesses it infinite chakra reserves. Only the heirs of the kingdom's royal bloodline can open or close the flow, but after it's opened, anyone can use it.

Trivia

- In Hinduism, chakra refers to each of seven centres of spiritual power in the human body: the tailbone, sacrum, stomach, heart, throat, forehead and crown.
  - The etymology for the word Chakra (चक्र) translates as "Wheel", "Circle"; this also pertains as to how chakra is produced within one's body: physical energy and spiritual energy are effectively "spun" into functional chakra. The direction of this spinning (clockwise or counter-clockwise) can be determined by checking how one's hair grows, as it influenced such spinning.
- Chakra and how it's blended or spun-together from the combination of spiritual and physical energies parallels the real-world Daoist-Shinto belief of Konpaku (魂魄); the belief of a two-fold soul, the spiritual soul and the physical soul.
- Chakra seems to reflect its owner's personality and emotions to some extent: Karin describes Naruto's chakra as bright and warm, while she says Sasuke's — while in the grips of his Curse of Hatred — is dark and cold. She also sensed the evil chakra inside Naruto and found Suigetsu's chakra to be disgusting. Ino also commented that Sasuke's chakra was much darker, when he used the Cursed Seal of Heaven the first time.

Sasuke's dark chakra as he delved deeper into the Curse of Hatred.

- Individuals can create imprints of their consciousness out of chakra that act separately from themselves and may outlive them, as seen with Minato Namikaze and Kushina Uzumaki's presence within their son's Eight Trigrams Sealing Style. Kakashi attributes this to the placing of their spiritual energy within the seal.[49] Being pure chakra, they cannot replenish themselves, and once their chakra is spent, they will disappear.
- Chakra is an energy that can connect the physical world and the spiritual one. It can act as a bridge for spirits to leave the afterlife and return to the physical world temporarily. Obito returned as a spirit from the afterlife with the use of chakra to inhabit Kakashi's body. This parallels chakra's nature as the fusion of physical and spiritual energies.
- When using the Gentle Fist, the user "synchronises the flow of one's own chakra with the chakra that exists in all things" (万物に存在するチャクラとみずからのチャクラの流れを同調させ, banbutsu ni sonzai suru chakura to mizukara no chakura no nagare o dōchō sa se).[50]
- Chakra can be transmitted across long distances in the form of Chakra Signals (チャクラ信号, Chakura Shingō).[51] To create the strongest possible connection, these signals must be transmitted from a place of high elevation that is relatively close to their destination.[52] It is also possible to adjust the frequency of these signals to prevent them from being traced back to their source.[53]
- Another being's chakra can cause temporary and permanent changes to one's body. The Gold and Silver Brothers had whisker marks on their cheeks

Madara would, decades later, awaken the Rinnegan in both of his eyes, and restored the vision lost in his right eye due to using Izanagi. After being given chakra by Hagoromo, Sasuke permanently developed a Rinnegan in one of his eyes. Kakashi's regular eyes temporarily transformed into Sharingan after Obito's spirit and chakra temporarily inhabits his body. These changes can be on a genetic level such as the whisker marks inherited from Naruto by his children: Boruto and Himawari.

- "Chakra" may also be synonymous with "energy" more broadly. Boruto's Rasengan: "Uzuhiko" uses the "planet's chakra". However, this is explained to be energy drawn from the Earth's rotation, centrifugal force and orbit, rather than the ambient natural energy that inhabits the planet.
- Amado Sanzu compared a shinobi's use of chakra control to his ability to control Kawaki's combat parameters from 100% offence to 100% defence,[54] suggesting shinobi passively bolster their own attack strength and resilience similarly, through chakra.
- In Naruto the Movie: Legend of the Stone of Gelel, Temujin's Continent is completely unaware of chakra or how to use it. Haido's Knights instead use another source to power their abilities.
